ABOUT THE TOPIC

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF PHARMACIST IN MEDICATION RECONCILIATION

MEDICATION RECONCILIATION

The process of identifying the most accurate list of all medications that the patient is taking, including name, dosage, frequency, and route, by comparing the medical record to an external list of medications obtained from a patient, hospital, or other provider.

REASON FOR IMPLEMENTATION

Transitions from one healthcare setting to another – whether from an intensive care unit to a general ward or from a rehabilitation facility to the patient's home – increase the risks of adverse drug events and can contribute to avoidable hospital visits. For instance, incomplete or inaccurate medication information can introduce changes to patients' outpatient medication regimens that were not intended by hospital-based physicians. Two common unintended medication changes are omissions – pre-admission medications are omitted from hospital orders and therefore not continued after discharge – and commissions – previous medications that patients discontinued prior to admission are inadvertently re-initiated in the hospital and therefore continued upon discharge cause moderate to severe discomfort or clinical deterioration.

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The pharmacist's role is to coordinate the medication reconciliation process. The pharmacist, wherever possible, should take primary responsibility for ensuring proper communication of medication information to patients/clients, families and other healthcare providers on admission, transfer, and discharge.
