INTRODUCTION

Writing a scientific article is an essential component of the academics and research field. It involves a process thinking of the observation that needs to be conveyed to scientific forum. Clear communication of the validated scientific data is a skill that can be acquired over a period of writing. Keep in mind that it is not a difficult process, but it is just time consuming. The workflow of scientific writing given in this article will give you a fair idea about how to start from the scratch while writing a scientific article. The scientific article helps in enriching knowledge, gives impact on the society, and helps in academic and scientific progress. Many universities and scientific societies and bodies give scores to scientific articles for carrier achievement schemes and promotions

ABOUT THE TOPIC

SEMINAR ON DATA ANALYSIS SCIENTIFIC WRITING AND SUPERLATIVE PUBLISHING

INTRODUCTION

Writing a scientific article is an essential component of the academics and research field. It involves a process thinking of the observation that needs to be conveyed to scientific forum. Clear communication of the validated scientific data is a skill that can be acquired over a period of writing. Keep in mind that it is not a difficult process, but it is just time consuming. The workflow of scientific writing given in this article will give you a fair idea about how to start from the scratch while writing a scientific article. The scientific article helps in enriching knowledge, gives impact on the society, and helps in academic and scientific progress. Many universities and scientific societies and bodies give scores to scientific articles for carrier achievement schemes and promotions

Original research article

It includes description of research, such as “how it was done” and “what are the observations.” The results are supported by discussion about the probable justifications of the findings.

Editorial article

It is a short review about a particular topic written by a subject expert. It includes expert suggestions or comments on the topic of discussion

Case report

It is based on an unusual or novel finding.
