To Whom It May Concern

I am very pleased to write this letter supporting Mr. Omarali Thangal V for his future studies. I have had the pleasure of working closely with Mr. Alwin during his tenure as a Clinical Research Coordinator, he was from premier research and worked at our site (Government medical college) from 12th July 2024 to 12th September 2024, where I serve as [Sub-Investigator].

Mr. Omarali Thangal V has consistently demonstrated exceptional skills, dedication, and professionalism in his role. His contributions to our research projects have been invaluable, and his ability to manage complex tasks with efficiency and precision has greatly impressed me and his colleagues.

During his time with us, Mr. Omarali Thangal V exhibited a strong understanding of clinical research methodologies and procedures. He played a pivotal role in data collection, analysis, and interpretation, ensuring the accuracy and integrity of our research findings.

Furthermore, Mr. Omarali Thangal's interpersonal skills and ability to collaborate effectively with multidisciplinary teams have been commendable. He communicates articulately, listens attentively, and consistently demonstrates a positive attitude, making him a valuable asset to our team dynamics.

Beyond his professional competence, Mr. Omarali Thangal V enthusiasm for learning and his genuine passion for advancing healthcare through research are truly admirable. I am confident that his academic pursuits will be marked by the same level of dedication and excellence that he has consistently displayed in his professional endeavors

Sincerely,

Ragi Krishnan
